Lowest Mark Of Early Fall Recorded; Heavy Frost Reported In Area

Lowest temperature this fall was reported Friday when the mercury skidded to 33 degrees. High temperature Thursday was 63.

Rain was predicted for late Friday with colder weather Saturday.

Washington Awaits Outcome Of Plea To Aid Finns

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13—Details of a possible Soviet thrust at Sweden were circulated in diplomatic quarters today as the United States government anxiously awaited the outcome of Russia's territorial demands on Finland.

Informed sources close to Scandinavian diplomatic authorities in Washington implied that both Germany and Russia are eyeing the iron resources in Sweden's eastern areas. To gain access to these resources, the Soviet government is moving for complete control of the Gulf of Bothnia, these sources inferred.

The Gulf of Bothnia is the body of water extending north-eastward from the Baltic Sea and separates Sweden and Finland.

Russia is reported to be seeking the right to fortify strategic Finnish islands in this area, including the Åland Islands. This would give the Soviet thorough naval domination of the gulf as well as the northeastern Baltic. This domination would be accomplished through concessions from Estonia, Latvia and Lithuania.

Germans Need Iron

Such control, it was explained, would make Sweden vulnerable to any demands by Russia and Germany. The latter will need considerable iron if war continues for any length of time.

Scandinavian sources in the United States are of the opinion that Russian control of this area might result in the channeling of vital Swedish resources to Germany. This would partly circumvent the blockade set up by the Allies at the entrance to the Baltic since Danzig and East Prussia.

RUSSO-FINNISH CONFABS ENTER ANOTHER STAGE

MOSCOW, Oct. 13—Russo-Finnish negotiations entered their second session today amid reports that the Soviet Union had advanced a proposal that the USSR be included with Finland and Sweden in a cooperative move to fortify the strategic Åland Islands.

The conferences got underway yesterday after the United States made representations to Moscow expressing hopes for continued peace between Finland and the Soviet Union.

Similar démarche were made by Sweden, Norway and Denmark.

Finland was represented by special emissary Dr. Juho Paasikivi and his assistants. Russia was represented by Dictator Josef Stalin and Premier-Foreign Commissar V. M. Molotov, as well as the Soviet minister to Finland.

Guarded silence was maintained regarding the negotiations, but it was believed that they touched on little more than the Åland island question at the opening session.

The Åland islands form a vital question, however, since Soviet domination of them would result in complete Russian domination over the entire northern and eastern Baltic.

Meanwhile, the presidium of the Soviet parliament ratified the Soviet-Lithuanian mutual assistance treaty of October 10.

NAZI SOLDIERS ARMORED, CLAIM ITALIAN PAPERS

ROME, Oct. 13—A fantastic display of Germany's new war methods on the Western Front including infantrymen dressed in duralumin armor was presented by the Italian press today.

The German forces, the newspapers said, have "wasps nests" of motorcycle machine gun carriers, gun-carrying cavalry units and aerial mine fields.

Each German infantry unit has chosen a group of expert marksmen with great physical strength who are employed as shock troops and equipped with shields, ingeniously joined to permit freedom of movement.

The breastplates of this armor was described as 1.12 millimeters thick and the breastplate, visored helmet and cheek pieces together weigh less than an ordinary knapsack.

Nevertheless, the papers said, the armor cannot be penetrated by the fire of small arms.

The armor, according to these accounts, instills greater confidence in soldiers when they are attacking positions or holding ground against enemy counter-assaults.

They carry sub-machine guns which can fire 120 rounds a minute and also are equipped with large, broad-bladed daggers.

SOLONS TO QUIT AFTER ACTING ON NEUTRALITY BILL

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13—The undercover controversy over demands that congress remain in special session to meet any additional emergency occasioned by the European war, transcended party lines today with advocates of adjournment claiming a majority of two to one.

The issue has been brought to a head by attempts of senate leaders to speed the neutrality debate to conclusion in view of opinion there is little likelihood of this nation successfully negotiating an European armistice at this time.

The senate bloc which would have it remain in session as a "watch dog" conceded there is little possibility of its demands being carried out. Bloc members pointed to Senate Majority Leader Barkley and Minority Leader McNary, who are agreed on adjournment at disposition of the neutrality bill.

"I see no reason why congress should remain in session beyond the completion of the legislation for which it was called into special session," Barkley said. "No purpose can be served by remain-

RUSSIA continues her moves for economic and military control of the Baltic states, at the moment seeking to crack Finland, which is offering resistance. Finland's Åland Islands, a vital key to Baltic supremacy, would make strategic Russian air bases. Until 22 years ago, all four Baltic countries, Finland, Estonia, Latvia and Lithuania, were under Russian rule.

ROMA, Oct. 13—With a strong tide running for younger men in the top offices of the American Federation of Labor, President William Green today entered what may be his last year in the office he has held since 1924—and it may be his best.

It may be his last because George Meany, elected secretary-treasurer of the federation by the convention, which is due to end its sessions today, enters office a logical contender for the presidency.

I may be his best because he looks for the return of another great organization" apparently to the American Federation of Labor. That other "great organization" is the International Ladies Garment Workers' Union, rich, strong, and a tremendous moral power in the labor field. Led by David Dubinsky, its president, it was one of the powerful organizations which quit the federation to found the C.I.O. that the I.L.G.W.U. later broke with the C.I.O., was a source of much satisfaction to the federation.

MOTHER OF FIVE URGES COURT TO GRANT DIVORCE

Suit for divorce charging neglect of duty and cruelty was filed in Common Pleas Court Friday by Emma C. Ruoff against Edward Ruoff, who resides just north of Derby.

They were married February 3, 1907 at Grove City and have five children. Mrs. Ruoff asks the custody of one minor child.

Mrs. Repouille and the other children were absent from home yesterday.

He had been contemplating the "mercy" killing for some time and because Mrs. Repouille was aware of this nation successfully negotiating an European armistice at this time.

"He couldn't talk, he couldn't walk, he couldn't talk," mumbled Repouille as he described the killing. "I spent $500—all the money I had—on an operation, but that didn't do any good. Specialists charged me $25 a visit and told me that there was no hope."

Repouille's act paralleled that of Louis Greenfield, a Bronx milliner who, tortured by the knowledge that his 17-year-old imbecile son would never get well, chloroformed the boy last January. Later Greenfield was acquitted on a manslaughter charge.

CHAMBERLAIN'S SPEECH ASSAILED

Rejection Of Peace Overtures

LONDON, Oct. 13—According to Danish correspondents in Berlin, it is considered only a question of hours before Soviet Russia signs a military pact with Germany under which the USSR would join in the war against the Anglo-French allies, a Reuter dispatch from Copenhagen said today. The dispatch added, however, that the Germans are formulating plans independently of Russia and with the aid of Italian negotiations.

BERLIN, Oct. 13—Chancellor Hitler prepared today for war against Great Britain to the bitter end, but clung to the conviction that the United States, by acting at the eleventh hour, might still be able to prevent a European blood bath.

Although he has decided to wage a full-fledged war against the Anglo-French allies unless some last-moment compromise is reached, the Reichschancellor indicated through his spokesman that intervention by President Roosevelt is the sole remaining spark of hope by which he believes the full fury and destruction of war can be stemmed.

Hitler's conviction that the United States might throw its weight on the scales in favor of peace came from one of Hitler's right-hand men, Dr. Otto Dietrich, German press chief, in a conversation with foreign correspondents.

Looks To Washington

Dietrich gave out the indication that Germany now is looking to Washington for a peace move shortly after Hitler, angered by British Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain's rejection of his peace overtures, decided that if circumstances remain as they stand at present, the Reich will wage total war against Britain and France.

The German press chief voiced Hitler's opinion while venting his rage against Great Britain. Dietrich was with Hitler constantly last night and laid before him Chamberlain's speech rejecting Hitler's peace offers.

Hitler, after reading Chamberlain's speech, was quoted as remarking:

"It is a plain rejection. There is nothing I can do about it."

The Fuehrer also was said to have taken particular exception to "insulting, impudent and lying" passages in Chamberlain's speech, which he considered contrary to the previous declaration of French Premier Edouard Daladier.

Dietrich charged that England would not have plunged into war if she had not felt sure of United States support.

He indicated clearly that Hitler believes that if a major neutral—the United States—would serve notice on England that America under no circumstances would allow herself to participate now nor in the future, directly or indirectly,

LONDON — The London News Chronicle reported from Istanbul today that a Russo-Turkish defensive pact has been signed, according to reliable reports. The agreement provides that Turkey shall close the Dardanelles in return for a Russian guarantee to the Balkan states, the paper said.

Huge flags of this neutral nation had been painted on the sides of the Cap Norte, it was stated, and her name changed to the Ancona.

(Editor's note: This name is not borne by any ship at present afloat. The closest to it is the Ancon, a 9,000-ton American passenger liner operated by the Panama Railway Company.)

The Cap Norte's fuel was practically exhausted due to bad weather that had been encountered. Her funnels were painted yellow instead of yellow and black.

The vessel's principal cargo was wheat. In the refrigerating chamber was found 440 casks of horse-flesh—and three boxes of caviar.</p

State highway patrolmen said the car in which the Columbus folk were riding attempted to pass a truck and semi-trailer outfit driven by Paul O. Gulbrandsen of Hudson, Fla. Both vehicles were going south. It was reported the trailer hit the front of the auto knocking it into a bridge. Gulbrandsen was apprehended by the patrol and will face charges of leaving the scene of an accident.

George Boulware suffered internal injuries. The Chandler woman had severe lacerations about the face and neck caused by her head going through the windshield.

Mother of Slain Imbecile Condemns Her Husband Who Chloroformed Him

NEW YORK, Oct. 13—A care-worn mother shouted bitter words of unforseenness today for her husband, 38-year-old Louis Repouille, who chloroformed his imbecile son, a 13-year-old mute, blind and paralyzed boy who always acted "like dead" to the father.

"I feel bitter," sobbed Mrs. Repouille, a mother of four young children. "He killed my baby. I'd like to see him punished for what he has done. Let him go to jail for a while. I'd take him back for the sake of the other children. I might forget what he did, but I'll never forgive him."

Tortured by the thought that the boy, who had been a financial and emotional burden since birth, never would recover, Repouille, a $25 a week elevator operator, ended little Raymond's suffering while

He had been contemplating the "mercy" killing for some time and because Mrs. Repouille was aware of his intentions, she had guarded the boy she "loved since the day he was born" almost constantly. Yesterday she went shopping and Repouille, now charged with murder, carried out his plan.

"My husband did this to punish me," said the hysterical mother. "He was angry with me because I used to drink a glass of beer every night. For two weeks he has been threatening he had chloroform in the house and would use it on the boy."

GOVERNOR SAYS STATE WILL NOT ACT FOR TOLEDO

COLUMBUS, Oct. 13—Governor Bricker reiterated today that there will be no special session of the legislature to act on pleas of Toledo and Cleveland for special relief funds.

The governor made known his decision after a conference with leaders of the General Assembly. It was the consensus of opinion, the governor said, that the two cities could have solved their own relief problems if they had taken the proper steps.

Officials of the two lake cities have expressed fears of food riots in the near future. Toledo has had no funds for relief since Sept. 16. Speaker of the House William McCullough, Senate Republican Leader Frank E. Whittemore, and Republican floor leader of the house J. Harry McGregor united in expressing opposition to a special term at the present time.

Ashville—

Clyde Brinker's bowling alleys will get into play on Monday evening October 23. The equipment has been refined and adjusted ready for action. All the rural high schools of the county have selected lady entrants for the Pumpkin Show beauty contest except Ashville and up to yesterday our school had made no selection. Plenty of "party ones" to select from, but being the 13th entry, stops it all. No judge would give a thirteenth even a tiny look. . . . The local school board was in session Thursday evening with four members present. The only business transacted was the paying of current bills. . . . All the kiddies in town were out in force last night giving the newly weds, the Yeatses and the Seedses a real belling. . . .

Ashville—

A farmer in reply to our "awfully hot and dry" salutation, Thursday said that he had been a close observer of weather conditions and their cause for years and the moon has much to do with the wet and dry seasons we have, he said.

Told us that a moon change after midnight and including the following forenoon, was a "dry one". Said that unless his "sure sign" failed this time, this "new moon" would bring this long dry spell to a close and the moisture needed so badly will come in plenty. Asked that we withhold his name because that "old night shiner", as he called the moon, might play a trick on him this time.

Ashville—

Pumpkin canning is to continue for another week, so H. M. Crittes told us. About 3500 tons have been canned to date with another 400 tons in the waiting. It is all sold and is being delivered as soon as shipments can be made. The seeds from all the fine "fruits" are carefully put in condition for planting next year.

Ashville—

Rev. O. W. Smith, of the local U. B. church, and that of Robtown, with his family were the victims of a real surprise party at their parsonage home Tuesday evening. The members of the Robtown church to the number of 25 or more walked into the Reverend's home unannounced and took charge of things in general. And along with these visitors were well-filled baskets for the evening.

Ashville—

Officials of the two lake cities have expressed fears of food riots in the near future. Toledo has had no funds for relief since Sept. 16.

Speaker of the House William McCullough, Senate Republican Leader Frank E. Whittemore, and Republican floor leader of the house J. Harry McGregor united in expressing opposition to a special term at the present time.

STARS SAY—

For Friday, October 13

ADVERSE or doubtful astral influences are likely to react on this day's business programs, although there are many favorable and felicitous aspects bearing rule on social, romantic, domestic and cultural engagements. The young have many gratifying prospects for success and joyous adventure. In doubtful or critical situations the use of tact, compromise or secret agreement may work better than drastic or high-handed methods.

Those whose birthday it is may have a year to test their ability and resolution, as there are signs of frustrations, delays, disappointments and opposition to be confronted and handled diplomatically and calmly. The young, romantic and sentimental may find many gratifying and happy adventures.

A child born on this day may be intellectually, artistic, emotional and idealistic, despite certain gloomy or melancholy tendencies or depression.

Mrs. C. Tracy LaCost, Toledo, was reelected president of the Congress. Other officers elected included Mrs. James Birrel, Rossman, first vice-president; Mrs. Stanley Enmitt, Akron, third vice-president; Mrs. Keith Weigle, East Cleveland, northeast district

Improved business conditions in the last few weeks are reflected in the increased sale of prepaid tax stamps which merchants of Circleville and Pickaway County are buying from their agents. For the week ending September 30 in Pickaway County the sales totalled $1,796.11 compared with $1,630.50 in the same week a year ago. The figure boosted the total sales for the year to $59,496.20, more than $3,000 above 1938's total of $56,333.

State Treasures Don H. Ebright reports the state's total sales through the week of September 30 to be $808,972.36, far ahead of 1938's $744,245.84. The total of stamps sold for the year in Ohio to date is $32,599,804.42, compared with $28,162,077.46 a year ago through September.

22 Counties Trailing

Pickaway County's total sales for the week passed Adams, Brown, Carroll, Gallia, Geauga, Harrison, Hocking, Holmes, Jackson, Madison, Meigs, Monroe, Morgan, Noble, Paulding, Perry, Pike, Preble, Putnam, Union, Vinton and Wyandot Counties, most of these being agricultural communities similar to our own. All of the counties named above are trailing Pickaway for the year, too.

Cuyahoga County, by far the state's largest, has collected $6,886,032.49 so far in 1939 and is considerably ahead of 1938 when the report for the period ending September 30 was $5,992,961.24.

Reports of other counties in South Central Ohio for the first nine months include (the first figure is for September and the second for the nine months:) Fairfield, $4,573.31, $157,182.29; Fayette, $2,832.06, $80,702.21; Ross, $4,528.60, $159,466.68.

GOVERNOR SAYS STATE WILL NOT ACT FOR TOLEDO

COLUMBUS, Oct. 13—Governor Bricker reiterated today that there will be no special session of the legislature to act on pleas of Toledo and Cleveland for special relief funds.

The governor made known his decision after a conference with leaders of the General Assembly. It was the consensus of opinion, the governor said, that the two cities could have solved their own relief problems if they had taken the proper steps.

Officials of the two lake cities have expressed fears of food riots in the near future. Toledo has had no funds for relief since Sept. 16.

Speaker of the House William McCulloch, Senate Republican Leader Frank E. Whittemore, and Republican floor leader of the house J. Harry McGregor united in expressing opposition to a special term at the present time.

STATE TAXATION BOARD TO STUDY BIGELOW COSTS

Subcommittee Of Three To Consider Money Needed If Amendment Passes

ESTIMATES ARE VARIED

Governor Believed To Be Sanctioning Action By Legislators

COLUMBUS, Oct. 13.—A special Ohio Senate Tax Committee today took preliminary steps toward establishing the cost of the Bigelow "$50 at 60" old-age pension plan that will come before the state's voters at next month's election.

Various estimates already advanced placed the cost at anywhere from $60,000,000 to $386,000,000 a year. The committee was to ascertain as accurately as possible a fair estimate of the cost, and submit the information to voters who, the committee contended, "may be befuddled by the various figures they have been hearing."

The task of arriving at the fair estimate was turned over to a subcommittee of three members, Sen. Lawrence Kane, (R) Cincinnati, Sen. Robert H. Hoffman, (R) Columbus, and Sen. Frank E. Whitemore, (R) Akron. The subcommittee is to report back to the committee sufficiently in advance of Nov. 7 that the information can be passed to the electorate.

The action in forming the committee was taken after Whitemore had conferred with Governor Bricker, leading to the belief that the governor at least sanctioned the proceeding, and that possibly the committee was formed at his request.

The Bigelow plan proposed to pay a state pension of $50 a month to all persons over 60 not gainfully employed, and $80 monthly to couples over that age. State Tax Commissioner William S. Evatt has estimated the cost of the program at $310,000,000 annually. Sources of revenue proposed by Bigelow would yield not more than $140,000,000, Evatt said, leaving a yearly deficit of $170,000,000.

PETTENGILL

"The Gentleman from Indiana"

WILL THE EMBARGO BE REPEALED?

Contrary to the general impression, I venture to predict that the President will have rough riding on the repeal of the arms embargo. I say this after hearing his address on the floor of the House, judging the applause and talking with dozens of members immediately afterward.

One learns to judge the "ring" in applause as a mechanic listens for the hum in the motor. The applause was generous, especially when peace or keep-out-of-war was mentioned. But when the President got down to his specific recommendations the old "You tell 'em, Chie!" stuff wasn't there. It was plain that the members were thinking of what the folks back home were thinking far more than what the President was saying. And the folks back home were thinking plenty. The mail still runs heavy against repeal.

Of course all bets are off if Herr Hitler is fool enough to sink an American ship or bomb London or Paris while the debate is going on. But if the situation remains substantially as at present, don't be surprised if the President loses in either the Senate or House.

At the moment I would say the President will probably win in the Senate, say 55 to 40. But don't overlook the House. All members of the House face primary and election contests only a few months hence, whereas two-thirds of the Senate don't need to worry about 1940. The House is closer to the grass roots than the Senate. Members realize that in next spring's primary, the vote on repeal is apt to tell the story and many think the political mortality will be heavier among those who change than among those who stand firm.

Because the Senate has only 96 members, with unlimited debate, it gets the spotlight. But don't forget that the House killed the Reorganization Bill of 1938 after the Senate passed it, and also killed the spend-lend bill this summer after the Senate passed it—both of which results were wholly unexpected by the country. Don't forget, too, that the House has already voted against the repeal on arms and ammunition and did so not more than three months ago. They are already on record. And in politics men learn that switching a vote is bad medicine. The member generally obliges in Europe, he permitted himself to tell Congress, "From a purely material point of view what is the advantage to us in sending articles across the ocean for final processing there when we could give employment to thousands by doing it here?" This will haunt him. It is a complete repudiation of his Chautauqua statement, "To resist the clamor of that greed, if war should come, would require the unwavering support of all Americans." Mr. Roosevelt was the first to fall to resist. If he fails now will he not also fail when the cash runs out and Europe again asks for credit?

Another factor is that the opposition does not have to change coats. The others do. Here is a bill that became law by a vote in the Senate of 63 to 6, and in the House by a vote of 376 to 13. Every member who now "switches" seems to confess he did not know what he was doing the first time. This is not a comfortable position to occupy back home with an opponent asking if he knows now.

Another factor is the quality of the debaters. Borah, Hiram Johnson, Bennett Clark, Walsh, Nye, Wheeler, Vandenberg, LaFayette, are pit-dog fighters. Clark and Nye as members of the munitions investigation committee know more about this matter than anyone on Capitol Hill. On this subject it will be a battle between professionals and amateurs. The country is in for some weeks of serious education by men who know why the neutrality law was written in the first place. Their opponents will have to explain why they don't know why.

SCHOOL MEN AT EX-CONVICT GOES MEETINGS HELD TO CHAIR AFTER IN CAPITAL CITY 11-YEAR FIGHT

Frank Fischer and J. Wray Henry, superintendent and principal, respectively, of Circleville schools, and George D. McDowell, superintendent of Pickaway County schools, were in Columbus Friday attending educational conferences.

Messrs. Fischer and Henry were attending the annual fall meeting of the Ohio High School Principals' Association and conferences of the State Department of Education.

Mr. McDowell was attending a meeting of a state-wide committee called to consider the addition of conservation education to the subjects of schools. He attended a dinner meeting Thursday night in Columbus on the program. Harold Bowers, Ashville, supervisor of certification of the state department, attended the Thursday night meeting. Mr. McDowell said conservation education would probably be added in the schools in the field of science subjects and not as a new subject.

Although he persisted to his death that he was dying for a "bum rap," authorities declared there was no doubt Cygan was guilty of murdering Detective John Chisca during a store holdup on April 5, 1928.

A series of legal moves and re-prieves had postponed the execution until today.

Cygan was led to the execution chamber at 12:02 a. m. He was pronounced dead at 12:07. Once in the chair, he lapsed into silence.

but what size bulbs have you in your reading lamp?

Of course you know your reading lamps are supposed to be used with 100 or 150 watt bulbs. But these sizes are usually in such demand elsewhere in the house that you're quite likely to find a 60, a 40, or even smaller size attempting the impossible task of providing good light for reading.

The I. E. S. Floor Lamp takes a 1-2-300 watt three-lite or a 150 watt bulb. Other type — two socket lamps have two 75 watt bulbs; three socket lamps — three 60 watt bulbs.

STATE TAXATION BOARD TO STUDY BIGELOW COSTS

Subcommittee Of Three To Consider Money Needed If Amendment Passes

ESTIMATES ARE VARIED

Governor Believed To Be Sanctioning Action By Legislators

COLUMBUS, Oct. 13.—A special Ohio Senate Tax Committee today took preliminary steps toward establishing the cost of the Bigelow "$50 at 60" old-age pension plan that will come before the state's voters at next month's election.

Various estimates already advanced placed the cost at anywhere from $60,000,000 to $386,000,000 a year. The committee was to ascertain as accurately as possible a fair estimate of the cost, and submit the information to voters who, the committee contended, "may be befuddled by the various figures they have been hearing."

The task of arriving at the fair estimate was turned over to a subcommittee of three members, Sen. Lawrence Kane, (R) Cincinnati, Sen. Robert H. Hoffman, (R) Columbus, and Sen. Frank E. Whittenore, (R) Akron. The subcommittee is to report back to the committee sufficiently in advance of Nov. 7 that the information can be passed to the electorate.

The action in forming the committee was taken after Whittenore had conferred with Governor Bricker, leading to the belief that the governor at least sanctioned the proceeding, and that possibly the committee was formed at his request.

The Bigelow plan proposed to pay a state pension of $50 a month to all persons over 60 not gainfully employed, and $80 monthly to couples over that age. State Tax Commissioner William S. Evatt has estimated the cost of the program at $310,000,000 annually. Sources of revenue proposed by Bigelow would yield not more than $140,000,000, Evatt said, leaving a yearly deficit of $170,000,000.

PETTENGILL "The Gentleman from Indiana"

WILL THE EMBARGO BE REPEALED?

Contrary to the general impression, I venture to predict that the President will have rough riding on the repeal of the arms embargo. I say this after hearing his address on the floor of the House, judging the applause and talking with dozens of members immediately afterward.

One learns to judge the "ring" in applause as a mechanic listens for the hum in the motor. The applause was generous, especially when peace or keep-out-of-war was mentioned. But when the President got down to his specific recommendations the old "You tell 'em, Chief" stuff wasn't there. It was plain that the members were thinking of what the folks back home were thinking far more than what the President was saying. And the folks back home were thinking plenty. The mail still runs heavy against repeal.

Of course all bets are off if

Herr Hitler is fool enough to sink an American ship or bomb London or Paris while the debate is going on. But if the situation remains substantially as at present, PETTENGILL ent, don't be surprised if the President loses in either the Senate or House. At the moment I would say the President will probably win in the Senate, say 55 to 40. But don't overlook the House. All members of the House face primary and election contests only a few months hence, whereas two-thirds of the Senate don't need to worry about 1940. The House is closer to the grass roots than the Senate. Members realize that in next spring's primary, the vote on repeal is apt to tell the story and many think the political mortality will be heavier among those who change than among those who stand firm.

Because the Senate has only 96 members with unlimited debate, it gets the spotlight. But don't forget that the House killed the Reorganization Bill of 1938 after the Senate passed it, and also killed the spend-lend bill this summer after the Senate passed it—both of which results were wholly unexpected by the country. Don't forget, too, that the House has already voted against the repeal on arms and ammunition and did so not more than three months ago. They are already on record. And in politics men learn that switching a vote is bad medicine. The member generally obliges in Europe, he permitted himself to tell Congress, "From a purely material point of view what is the advantage to us in sending articles across the ocean for final processing there when we could give employment to thousands by doing it here?" This will haunt him. It is a complete repudiation of his Chautauqua statement, "To resist the clamor of that greed, if war should come, would require the unswerving support of all Americans." Mr. Roosevelt was the first to fail to resist. If he fails now will he not also fail when the cash runs out and Europe again asks for credit?

Another factor is that the opposition does not have to change coats. The others do. Here is a bill that became law by a vote in the Senate of 63 to 6, and in the House by a vote of 376 to 13. Every member who now "switches" seems to confess he did not know what he was doing the first time. This is not a comfortable position to occupy back home with an opponent asking if he knows now.

Another factor is the quality of women, especially the mothers of boys from 12 on up. With them, this is a highly emotional subject. They want Congress to keep as far away from Europe as the Atlantic permits. With them, especially, the vote on repeal will determine their vote in the elections next Spring and Fall. And they have time—and believe me they are taking it—to write letters.

Another is the President's appeal to the profit motive. This was a mistake. After calling munitions profits "fool's gold," in his 1936 Chautauqua speech, and after saying in his radio speech on September 1 that no one had any moral right to profit from the

SCHOOL MEN AT MEETINGS HELD IN CAPITAL CITY

EX-CONVICT GOES TO CHAIR AFTER 11-YEAR FIGHT

Frank Fischer and J. Wray Henry, superintendent and principal, respectively, of Circleville schools, and George D. McDowell, superintendent of Pickaway County schools, were in Columbus Friday attending educational conferences.

Messrs. Fischer and Henry were attending the annual fall meeting of the Ohio High School Principals' Association and conferences of the State Department of Education.

Mr. McDowell was attending a meeting of a state-wide committee called to consider the addition of conservation education to the subjects of schools. He attended a dinner meeting Thursday night in Columbus on the program. Harold Bowers, Ashville, supervisor of certification of the state department, attended the Thursday night meeting. Mr. McDowell said conservation education would probably be added in the schools in the field of science subjects and not as a new subject.

A series of legal moves and reprises had postponed the execution until today.

Cygan's final defiance was his refusal to eat his last meal—a dinner of steak, potatoes, bread, pears and coffee.

Cygan was led to the execution chamber at 12:02 a.m. He was pronounced dead at 12:07. Once in the chair, he lapsed into silence.

HITLER EXPECTS U. S. TO APPEAL FOR WAR TRUCE

Fuehrer Ready For War To End, Berlin Declares; Chamberlain Hit

Dietrich said furthermore that this would be the result, in Hitler's opinion, if the United States advised England to "come to her senses and earnestly endeavor to explore all possibilities of a peaceful solution."

Otherwise, it was made clear, Hitler will feel compelled to wage "war to the hilt."

Dietrich added that if the will to undertake such intervention exists in the United States, then the question of how it will be carried out will not be a drawback.

In the meantime, the campaign to rouse the German public mind against England will be pushed forward at full blast on the key-

LONDON, Oct. 13—Informed British quarters scoffed today at suggestions put forward by a spokesman of Chancellor Hitler that President Roosevelt intervene to end the European war. In Whitehall, this comment was heard: "It sounds like the last-minute plea from a man who is badly cornered. It seems ironic that Hitler is appealing to the man whom the Nazis so frequently and roundly have abused."

note that England is seeking the "extermination" of Germany.

This is expected to revive the old world war cry: "Got Strafe England."

Consultations with Moscow are expected to follow soon, with Premier-Foreign Commissar V. M. Molotov making a visit to Berlin—with Premier Mussolini on hand as a "third partner."

Dietrich said the Reich is willing to meet practically all major and "reasonable" demands of the western powers in one form or another and is ready to sit in an international conference to re-establish a Polish state and give a joint guarantee of European peace and security to the smaller nations.

The Reich, he said, also would be willing to join hands with other nations to boost international trade if Britain had shown "the least spark of willingness to cooperate for peace instead of driving toward war under the whip of Winston Churchill (first lord of the admiralty) and the admiral."

At the same time the German press lashed out furiously against Chamberlain and Great Britain.

Diplomatic Correspondence, organ of the German foreign office, termed Chamberlain's address to the House of Commons in London a "shameless insult to the German people and its leaders."

It said that the Reich remembers "how England broke its solemnly pledged word given to the German people for an honest peace in 1918," adding that Germany is now determined to prevent recurrence of any such future event.

(Editor's Note: The London Daily Mail reported from Amsterdam that it was understood Hitler will proceed immediately to the Western Front aboard a special "Railway Chancellery" consisting of three coaches and a number of trucks mounting anti-aircraft guns.)

(A Berlin dispatch to the Stockholm newspaper Tidningen said Hitler had decided Chamberlain's speech constituted a clear and definite "no" to the Fuehrer's peace offer and that Hitler therefore has taken all possible measures to prosecute the war.

Cities Evacuated

(The Danish newspaper Politiken reported from Berlin that all large Rhineland cities had been ordered to prepare for immediate evacuation.)

Hitler's decision for a total war was reached following a three-hour session in which he and his most trusted government and military leaders concluded that the peace offensive had failed and that the war must continue.

The Fuehrer, in the presence of Field Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering, Chief of the Army Command, Gen. Wilhelm Keitel, Foreign Minister Joachim Von Ribbentrop and others, was represented as reluctantly agreeing that Chamberlain's speech—con-

NEWSPAPER OWNERS TO OPPOSE ARMS EMBARGO

CHICAGO, Oct. 13—Illinois newspaper owners today stand more than 20 to 1 against repeal of the arms embargo, according to an announcement by H. L. Williamson, chairman of the executive committee of the Illinois Press Association.

Williamson said he had sent a questionnaire to more than 700 owners of daily and weekly newspapers in the state and that of those who replied 335 voted against repeal of the arm embargo, sixteen for repeal, and 17 were undecided.

The French were reported going forward by means of the infiltration method, using a few men equipped with automatic fire weapons.

The German patrol movements have now reached the proportions of attacks by whole companies in most sectors, but so far there has been nothing in the nature of a main offensive.

Military advices said, however, that the fighting is becoming closer and that each succeeding German assault is stronger.

As far as the Germans are concerned the artillery duel has reached a maximum, it was claimed, although the French have not yet unleashed the full power of their heavy guns.

French quarters stated that the strength of the positions which the French troops have consolidated on German soil was proved by the fact that the Germans have been unable to take a single prisoner during the last three days.

The Germans have been unable to smash the advanced French positions, it was asserted, despite intensive combat tactics. On each occasion they have been hurled back by the highly mechanized French curtain of fire.

Shortly after Hitler's decision became known, the official German news agency, DNB, issued a lengthy statement attacking Chamberlain's speech and warning that neutral nations will suffer with belligerents in the conflict.

REACTION AWAITED

Meanwhile, the state department awaited official Soviet reaction to the American plea that nothing be done to disturb the peaceful relations between Russia and Finland. The plea was conveyed to Soviet officials by American Ambassador Laurence Steinhardt.

Although the American plea was couched in the most diplomatic terms, it was calculated to place Russia in the role of an aggressor should the Soviet employ force in its demands against Finland.

NEW YORK, Oct. 13—Rescue by accident of 36 members of the crew of a British freighter and failure to locate survivors of a blazing French oil tanker—both vessels apparently victims of submarines or mines—was reported by radio from the English channel today by the S. S. President Harding of the United States lines.

(Editor's Note: The British Admiralty in London today confirmed a submarine attack on the British freighter, adding the crew had been picked up by an American ship.)

Capt. James E. Roberts, commander of the President Harding, radioed to his New York headquarters the following message:

Thursday 19.10 GCT (2:10 p.m. EST) responded to S. O. S. from French tanker W. Emile Miguet, latitude 50.08 north, longitude 14° west.

"Sighted and rescued 36 crew in boats of British steamer Heronspool. None missing.

"Reached W. Emile Miguet. No sign of crew proceeded 09.37 GCT (4:37 a.m. EST)

Captain Roberts' message indicated that search had been conducted for several hours in an attempt to ascertain fate of the French tanker's crew before the order to proceed was given.

NEW SENATOR UNCERTAIN OF EMBARGO VOTE

Chandler Says He'll Vote
His Convictions After Hearing Debate

TALKS WITH LaFOLLETTE

Two Others Listed In Doubt
Go Against President's Present Bill

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13— Senator A. B. "Happy" Chandler, Kentucky, the senate's newest member, moved himself into the "doubtful" column today on the question of repealing the neutrality act arms embargo.

The administration's confidential poll lists the Kentuckian as "supporting" its arms repeal bill because he gave out a statement before he came to the senate Tuesday approving its "general principles."

Today, Chandler told International News Service that after listening to three days of debate he has decided to "vote on the bill and any amendments strictly on their merits." He added:

"I gave out a statement saying I favored the bill's general principles but I am not pledged. I will vote on an amendment striking the embargo repeal section from the bill according to my conviction as to what's best to keep us out of war. I have not decided which way I will vote."

Chandler, it was learned, privately questioned Senator LaFollette (P) Wisconsin, after LaFollette concluded a ringing attack on the embargo repeal bill.

Chavez, White Decided

Action of Chandler coincided with several developments favorable to forces fighting the administration bill, among them the surprise announcement of Senator Chavez (D) New Mexico, that he would vote against the bill. A little earlier Senator White (R) Maine, announced he would not vote for the bill "in its present form." White had previously been listed "on the fence."

These developments brought jubilant private observations from Senator Borah (R) Idaho, leading the opposition forces, and terse comment from two other opposition leaders, Senator Clark (D) Missouri and Senator Nye (R) North Dakota.

"I think we've got a good chance to win," Clark said. "Of course, if a vote came today we'd be licked, but we're picking up strength and the vote won't come today."

Nye added:

"Things are looking up for our side and they're going to look up more next week. This fight is not lost by any means."

Nye takes the floor for his second major address of the neutrality debate today, and Senator Taft (R) Ohio, prominent candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, will reply. Taft supports the administration bill in principle, but will outline a number of changes he believes should be made in it.

Amendments Urged

Senate Democratic Leader Barkley asked the senate to "co-operate" in bringing "general debate" to a close this week if possible, but Clark replied that "efforts to limit debate on a subject as important as this are unwarranted." He said he had "a great many amendments," and said he would discuss each at length.

Some Republican leaders joined Barkley in predicting a final vote

OPEN LETTERS

TO THE HIGHWAY DEPARTMENT

SIRS: Circleville and Pickaway County owe you a debt of gratitude that cannot be paid in the few words that can be written here for permitting opening of Route 22 between Circleville and the western part of the county. I am extremely pleased that the road will not be reclosed after it has been opened for the Pumpkin Show. Circleville does not want the residents of the western area of the county coming to the city only for the big fall festival; the city wants these neighbors to come into Circleville anytime that they wish, and your action has made this possible. The Chamber of Commerce is pleased that you are permitting the road to be opened; the contracting firm doing the work is happy that you have taken the step, and the persons living west of the river who have business in Circleville are mighty pleased.

CIRCUITEER.

TO THE REV. JACOB BARTHELMAS

SIR: Next Sunday appropriate services will be held dedicating the three bells presented to Trinity Lutheran Church in memory of your deceased wife, mother and mother-in-law. You are to be congratulated on this wonderful gift to your church. Members of Trinity Lutheran Church are proud of your gift. Congregations of all churches join in thanking you for a memorial gift that will be heard and enjoyed by all folk of the community.

CIRCUITEER.

TO HUNTERS

SPORTSMEN: Circleville and Pickaway County hunters will have an opportunity this next season to use a controlled hunting area of more than 2,000 acres of land in Pickaway Township. These areas, established by the Ohio Department of Conservation, have been very successfully operated in other counties. There is a limit placed on the number of hunters permitted and it is first come first served. Many Circleville hunters will welcome the chance to hunt on a large tract of land where they know they will not face the difficulty of obtaining permission of landowners. Due to the large number of hunters coming into Pickaway County from Columbus and other nearby cities farmers have posted their lands with the result that some hunters have difficulty finding places to go. Hunters are urged by the Pickaway County Farmer's and Sportsman's Association to cooperate in the campaign to get a check on the number

TO SCHOOL OFFICIALS

EDUCATORS: I am very pleased to note that numerous civic organizations are unanimously supporting your request for continuation of the 3-mill levy for school purposes to be voted on in November. Our schools need this levy; their operation depends on the success of the ballot. The levy is not new, a similar one being in force at the present time, but expiring at the end of the year. It should be renewed for an additional five year period. There never was a more imperative time than the present to guarantee our children proper education. A vote against this issue would be a vote against the future welfare of your children.

Up to a snappy bright morning and in the air almost caught the scent of hot dogs. That just the shadow running before the Pumpkin Show. If this weather continues the ville will not be big enough to handle the crowds that will assemble. All shows are claimed to be bigger and better each year, but this one really is. The finest Pumpkin Show of all is assured.

Over in Europe the people prepare to kill each other, and here we plan to exhibit farm and kitchen products, to drink the mysterious concoctions of carnival time, to smile at the kids riding the merry-go-round and possibly permit ourselves to be talked into a thrill ride or two. This America is a grand place and every one of us should strive to our utmost to keep it so.

Gave much thought to the talk made before Rotary by Dr. Blackburn, who is the county's guardian of health. In the two years he has been on that job he has done grand work. No epidemics of any kind and the general health standard raised. The county keeps a watchful eye over our 4,000 school children and their parents as well. In the city the situation is different. We, more or less, let things take their course. We have no qualified health officer. And there is something to think about. It might be well for us to throw in with the county and provide general protection.

Frank Lynch is on a vacation trip in Wisconsin and several post cards I have received from him. Each is from a village smaller than ours and each carries a picture of a beautiful park. It was Frank who started the park project here. He wants a playground for our children and some others do too, but not yet has much money been subscribed toward the project. On his card from Columbus, Wis., Frank wrote: "This is a picture of one of the fine buildings in this wonderful park in a town of 2,500. TO CORN HUSKERS

FOLK: You have only a day left before filing your entries with F. K. Blair, county extension agent, for the county husking contest to be conducted October 23 at the Homer Reber farm near the Walnut Township school. October 14 has been set as the deadline for entries to be filed. The contest this year should be a humdinger. The corn is excellent for fast and efficient husking, interest in the contest is high, and the Walnut Rural Youth Association has made many plans for the entertainment of the large crowd expected to attend the event. Good weather and a large list of entries are needed to make the contest an outstanding one. Winners will go to the state competition near Delaware the following week.

MINISTERS: I am pleased to note that you have extended your organization to include pastors of Pickaway County's churches. A ministerial organization to do the most good must be representative of the entire community which it serves. It is necessary that ministers from Ashville, Williamsport, Darbyville, New Holland, Commercial Point and other centers in the county should become affiliated with your unit. Another point that cannot pass unnoticed is the necessity of welding closer together our city and county affairs. The Church is the proper place to begin this undertaking, one that will make Circleville and its surrounding communities more cooperative and more dependent on each other.

TO SAFETY DEPARTMENT

OFFICIALS: Circleville's business district alleys, have been greatly improved in the last couple of months with the service department carrying on a construction program that has resulted in most of the busy ones being paved. These alleys are being traveled much more now than they ever were before they were paved, with a result that motorists and pedestrians are often endangered. Our alleys are entirely too narrow for passing. Why couldn't a system of one-way alleys be worked out that would prove satisfactory? This suggestion might be considered by your department with the thought in mind that it might benefit motorists and pedestrians alike.

CIRCUITEER.

TO SCHOOL OFFICIALS

EDUCATORS: I am very pleased to note that numerous civic organizations are unanimously supporting your request for continuation of the 3-mill levy for school purposes to be voted on in November. Our schools need this levy; their operation depends on the success of the ballot. The levy is not new, a similar one being in force at the present time, but expiring at the end of the year. It should be renewed for an additional five year period. There never was a more imperative time than the present to guarantee our children proper education. A vote against this issue would be a vote against the future welfare of your children.

Fall must be here. Glen Gelb brought in a bag of parched corn from the Elks club, the first of the season. And another indication was an official early morning temperature of 33. Those hills down Laurelvile way must be beautiful now. And I will miss them, for the Sunday before Pumpkin Show is always a day of great labor in this plant.

If the weatherman, after all these weeks of drought, turns on the moisture next week he will lose plenty of friends down this way. Never will do for him to run for an office.

And that brings up the subject of elections and with it the three mill school levy to be voted on in November. That is not a new levy, but merely a continuation of the one that has been in effect for a long time. The levy is absolutely necessary if our schools are to continue in operation, so you really have no choice in the matter. If you favor schools at all you must vote for the levy.

were annoyed only by barking dogs and hoof beats in the night, squeaking shoes, church bells and snoring. We still have these besides the explosions of tires, factory whistles, screeching brakes, lawn-mowers with gasoline put-ups and water running in the bathtub.

It is not generally realized how many scientific studies have been made on the effect of noise on human health and efficiency. Dr. Dan McKenzie, in England, produced case histories to show that during the World War men were actually killed by noise alone. The shock of sound waves coming from high explosives and the discharge of large guns so affected the brain that it produced death.

Verifies Story

This gives a scientific verification of the climax of Dorothy L. Sayers' detective story, "The Nine Tailors," in which a man was killed, when he was imprisoned in a church belfry, by the mere pealing of the chimes. Dr. Donald A. Laird, who has done so much in practical psychology, has proved that experienced typists expend 19 per cent more calories of bodily energy when working in an unquieted office, probably because the noisy office caused a tenseness of all their muscles. He found that high-pitched soprano voices are the most annoying. Low-pitched rumble, however, are a close second.

Digestion is affected by noise. Noises slightly louder than the human voice interfere with the secretion of saliva and depress the contraction of the human stomach. The process of digestion after a test meal is measured by withdrawing a sample of the stomach contents. Noises louder than ordinary conversation retard the secretion of the stomach juices.

Muscles contract automatically in less than one ten-thousandth of a second after a whistle has been blown; whether the person is expecting the whistle makes no difference.

Pressure of the brain jumps to four times normal when an inflated paper bag is exploded.

Much of this may be stopped especially in places where efficiency work is being carried on, by the use of insulating material. Noise reduction is quite as important as illumination and ventilation in a modern office.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

C. S.: What foods do you suggest for a person suffering from colitis? May foods containing cream, lard or much sugar be eaten?

Answer—The so-called smooth diet is best for colitis. Any rough or irritating food, such as vegetable cellulose, bran, whole wheat bread, spicas, fried or greasy foods, pork, veal, are to be avoided. Sugar is all right, but lard and vinegar would come under the head of greasy or irritating ingredients.

Answer—The formula is NaCl.

It is ordinary table salt, as I tried to make clear.

Shadow Over Hill House

By ELLIOTT FILLION
WRITTEN FOR AND RELEASED BY CENTRAL PRESS ASSOCIATION

SYNOPSIS

Mrs. Peake, proprietor of Hill House, New England summer resort, is found murdered by the "spite fence" erected near her property by her estranged sister, Miss Ivy Newcomb. Previous to the murder the guests had been concerned about the poisoning of one of the maid-servants. Mrs. Peake recovers; strange sounds of a prowler on the property, and the ransacking of one of the rooms. Those who live at Hill House believe the real killer is Dr. Neal. Sally Gordon, spending her first vacation there, her close friends, Rhoda and Pauline Rutherford, children of Captain Rutherford; Coral Easton, Bruce Orion and Joseph Barry. Josie is friendly with Alan Murray, son of Miss Ivy. Dr. Paul Abbott, Duncan Abbott, Dr. Paul, likes Coral Easton for whom Josie has no use. The police begin their investigation. The police chief introduces Captain Lancy, well-known detective, who has been called in to take charge of the case.

"Very good. Do you others corroborate her story?"

Dunc, Josie and I nodded, and Josie said: "I was hunting for mother then."

"And how long was it before you found her?"

We looked from one to the other.

"That one is about ten years old, Neal said, with a wry grimace.

"It was built by my mother's sister, who lives in the cottage on the other side. It is a long story and, like Paul, I prefer to tell it in private."

Captain Lancy nodded understandingly and conferred in an undertone with Chief Forrest. When he turned back to us, his face was more a still graver expression.

"Is your information connected with the spite fence, Dr. Rutherford?" he asked.

His question seemed to surprise Dr. Paul. "Not at all," he said decidedly. "I know nothing about that."

"And you, Dr. Peake, have you any knowledge that your mother's death is due to the spite fence?"

"No, I can't say that I have any definite knowledge," returned Neal. "You will have to hear what I have to say to understand why I feel as I do."

"Then," the detective went on, "I think we should be sure that no one here can give us any information before we separate for the night. I wish an explanation of Hill House sprang to life in my brain."

Yet I couldn't believe she had spoken

OPEN LETTERS

TO THE HIGHWAY DEPARTMENT

SIRS: Circleville and Pickaway County owe you a debt of gratitude that cannot be paid in the few words that can be written here for permitting opening of Route 22 between Circleville and the western part of the county. I am extremely pleased that the road will not be reclosed after it has been opened for the Pumpkin Show. Circleville does not want the residents of the western area of the county coming to the city only for the big fall festival; the city wants these neighbors to come into Circleville anytime that they wish, and your action has made this possible. The Chamber of Commerce is pleased that you are permitting the road to be opened; the contracting firm doing the work is happy that you have taken the step, and the persons living west of the river who have business in Circleville are mighty pleased.

CIRCUITEER.

TO THE REV. JACOB BARTHELMEAS
SIR: Next Sunday appropriate services will be held dedicating the three bells presented to Trinity Lutheran Church in memory of your deceased wife, mother and mother-in-law. You are to be congratulated on this wonderful gift to your church. Members of Trinity Lutheran Church are proud of your gift. Congregations of all churches join in thanking you for a memorial gift that will be heard and enjoyed by all folk of the community.

TO HUNTERS

SPORTSMEN: Circleville and Pickaway County hunters will have an opportunity this next season to use a controlled hunting area of more than 2,000 acres of land in Pickaway Township. These areas, established by the Ohio Department of Conservation, have been very successfully operated in other counties. There is a limit placed on the number of hunters permitted and it is first come first served. Many Circleville hunters will welcome the chance to hunt on a large tract of land where they know they will not face the difficulty of obtaining permission of landowners. Due to the large number of hunters coming into Pickaway County from Columbus and other nearby cities farmers have posted their lands with the result that some hunters have difficulty finding places to go. Hunters are urged by the Pickaway County Farmer's and Sportsman's Association to cooperate in the campaign to get a check on the number

Storing dahlia tubers

October's frosts may mean the end of dahlia blooms, but they mark the beginning of the winter storage problem. After frost has killed the blooms the stalks should be cut down to within 6 or 8 inches of the ground.

After the tubers are dug up, turn them upside down to drain. Excess moisture may cause them to rot during the winter if this precaution is not taken. Let the tubers remain in the sun for a day to dry off, then shake the earth from them.

Label each tuber as shown in today's Garden-Graph. Then pack them away in boxes of dry sand, sawdust or peat. The tubers can be stored in either a cool or warm

OFFICIALS OF VARIOUS DISTRICTS DISCUSS NEED FOR RURAL FIRE TRUCK

40 MEN CONFER IN COURTHOUSE THURSDAY EVE

Circleville Township And Commissioners Ready To Join In Program

OTHERS REPORT LATER

Original Plan To Include Only Six Areas May Be Drastically Changed

Circleville Township Trustees and the Pickaway County Commissioners are the only two groups that have definitely decided the date to participate in the cooperative program for fire protection for the rural districts.

This was revealed Thursday evening when approximately 40 men, representing Circleville, the county and townships, attended a meeting in the Common Pleas courtroom for a general discussion of the program. Trustees and clerks from 11 townships were present. Townships represented included Millcreek, Wayne, Walnut, Saltcreek, Washington, Circleville, Harrison, Madison, Jackson, Deer Creek and Pickaway. A poll was taken to determine what groups had definitely decided to participate.

John Keller, county commissioner, was chairman of the meeting. L. A. McClelland of Laurelvile, a representative of the Seagraves Corporation of Columbus, explained the cooperative plan pointing out that more townships participating would reduce the amount to be paid by each for equipment. The commissioners have agreed to pay $2,000 for protection of county property. The equipment would be housed, maintained and manned by the Circleville fire department. Circleville would not share in the cost of the equipment.

Cooperation Stressed

The equipment would be used for rural runs and for serious fires in Circleville. Arrangements would be worked out for the truck to cooperate with departments in the various villages in the county and near the county. The new truck would be available for use in the villages and they in turn would send their equipment to service rural fires.

Practically all the townships represented at the meeting are interested in the program, but have reached no decision on participation. Original plans were to have the six townships surrounding Circleville Township participate in the program. Representatives of all townships were invited to the meeting, called by the commissioners. Another meeting will be called in the near future to determine what townships wish to participate.

Fred C. Clark attended the meeting and gave a report of the recommendations of the service committee of the Rotary Club on improvements for the Circleville department. These recommendations will be submitted to council in the near future.

The five recommendations include a large storage tank on the east side of the river, water pressure of 65 pounds at all times in the city, a new truck with a 500 gallon pump and all necessary equipment, make arrangements so the fire fighting equipment could reach the south end of the city when trains block crossings and an additional fireman in the department so three men are on duty at all times.

Tank's Need Stressed

He explained that the storage tank would provide a water supply

It's Going to Cost More to Cover Your Legs, Girls

Pity the poor working girl—the war is going to hit her pocketbook and hit it hard—if it continues. Rise in costs of silk indicate that there will be an average rise in price on silk stockings of 10 cents per pair. That thin dime grows into an important item when it is estimated that a shop or office worker may wear out as many as 50 pairs of stockings a year. Even screen lovelies, such as Carole Landis, shown here, may feel the pinch of covering their pretty legs before long.

Italians Pessimistic After Minister's Talk

ROME, Oct. 13—British Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain's resounding rejection of Chancellor Hitler's peace overtures aroused pessimism in Italy today as authoritative circles predicted "total war" would be raging at top speed on the Western Front within two weeks.

Chamberlain's speech demanding "acts, not words alone" as proof of Hitler's sincerity, was regarded as ending the last faint hope that his reply would offer a wedge for Italian meditation to terminate the war.

It was stated that Italy, however, will continue to urge a peaceful settlement and will seize every promising opportunity to seek an armistice.

Informed quarters disclosed that Italian Ambassador Giuseppe Basitanini, who left Rome for London yesterday, carried with him the hopes of Premier Mussolini that England will unceasingly seek a peace formula which can be brought into operation at the first opportunity.

Important developments were foreseen in Italy's desire to create a solid bloc in the Balkans.

The aim of this bloc, it was stated, will be to preserve peace. But Italy also hopes to solidify the Balkan nations into a group ready to take united action in any eventuality.

This, it was believed, would increase Italy's power and value both with the Allies as well as with Germany.

(A reuter dispatch from Rome said that, according to authoritative circles, Italy's neutral position remains unchanged and that further peace overtures are excluded as unnecessary.)

ONE-MAN ELECTION

PARIS — The election of a Chamber of Commerce in the small town of Bains les Bains, a health resort near Paris, has provided its 12,000 inhabitants with an unusual record. The counting of the votes revealed the following figures: electors, 1; candidates 1; voters, 1; elected 1.

Drug Store Missed

"In general the city seems familiar, but it is difficult to point out the landmarks," he explained. "Nearly all the old timers I knew have gone. It seems one of the greatest changes to me is not to see the Evans and Krimmel drug store on the main corner with Wittich's store nearby."

Mr. McMullen said Grand Junction is in a rich farming center similar to Circleville. He said the farming there was highly specialized due to the cost of irrigation. Major crops include tomatoes, pineapples and sugar beets.

Some of the landmarks familiar to him are the courthouse, American Hotel, W. J. Weaver & Son, wholesale house, George Grand-Gillard's drug store, E. S. Neuding's grocery and Dr. Jones' office.
